Arabs Revolt Against Jewish Apartheid

On December 9, 1987, throngs of Arab teenagers in Gaza began rioting against the Jewish occupation forces apparently in response to a rumor that four young men were killed by Israeli soldiers after a traffic accident. The truth of the story made little difference because Jewish torture and murder of Arab dissidents is so common and well-known that the populace just assumed the worst to be true. The Palestinian youths pelted Israeli soldiers with rocks and an occaisional molotov cocktail, but were otherwise unarmed. The soldiers replied with tear gas, rubber bullets and live ammunition. As of this writing (Dec. 28th) Israeli authorities admit to shooting 21 people, mostly teenage boys.

At first the Jewish government said that their soldiers shot live rounds only when their own lives were threatened, but Arabs and neutral observers including the director of the U.N. Relief and Works Agency in Israel, Bernard Mills, said that this was not true. After about 10 days of continuous rioting Defense Minister, Yitzhak Rabin, dropped the pretense of measured response and openly ordered his troops to shoot to kill the leaders of the demonstrations and marksmen with high-powered, telescopic rifles were brought to Gaza for that purpose. Yet, the riots continued and the crackdown got tougher.

In one case, Israeli soldiers entered an Arab hospital in Gaza and demanded that the wounded be handed over to them. The doctors and nurses refused and they were beaten with rifle butts by the Jews who then dragged the wounded out of their sick beds off to concentration camps. In at least two incidents it was reported that Israelis blindfolded Palestinian youngsters and tied them atop their tanks to act as human shields against the rockthrowers. One of these incidents was filmed by a CBS camera crew (though CBS has yet to show the film) and the other was reported by a U.N. refugee worker.

The rioting in Gaza sparked similar, though less extensive rioting on the West Bank. Arabs in Israel itself called a successful one-day general strike to show their support for the Gazans. There were also large demonstrations of solidarity in the surrounding Arab countries including one of fifty thousand people in Syria.

The rioting continued at unabated strength, despite the shoot to kill policy, until the Israelis made thousands of arbitrary mass arrests of teenagers who they thought might be involved in the riots. According to press accounts, the Jewish soldiers would break in the doors of an Arab home and would smash the faces of the women and old men with their rifle butts until they revealed where their children were. They would then find the children, beat them and then drag them off to prisons or concentration camps for "trial". At first the youngsters would be released shortly after being beaten at the concentration camps, but now they are being sentenced to long-term imprisonment. No doubt the leaders are in for the sort of extensive Jewish torture that we described in the May86 Nationalist article entitled Israelis Torture American in Lebanon.

MEDIA COVERAGE

The news coverage of this story in America has been extraordinary. Whereas such rioting in South Africa gets immediate attention, it took ten days before the story hit the front page of the Washington Post. Prior to that it was on page A37, page A44, page A38, etc. The national TV news did not report on it until the fourth day of rioting. However, some of the TV footage was truly startling as it showed Israeli troops in full combat gear shooting directly into crowds of unarmed youths, kicking captured teenagers in the ribs, kidneys and head, and smashing their nightsticks on the knees of helpless captured victims. The TV networks apparently could not resist using film with such visual impact. But the Israeli government quickly cracked down on the camera crews and the film became less interesting. Despite, these pictures of raw violence on the TV screen the Washington Post did not carry one picture in fifteen days of coverage which showed an Israeli soldier in the midst of a violent act; this newspaper is not so kind to Korea, Chili and South Africa.

On the thirteenth day of rioting Ted Koppel's Nightline did a show on the revolt and he mentioned the parallels to the rioting in South Africa, but in a subtle and very important omission, he did not draw attention to the similarities in the Israeli and South African political systems of racial oppression. Rather, he commented only on how similar the scenes of rioting looked and how similarly the two governments reacted in putting them down. It was an implied criticism of style and not of substance, as one would expect from a Jewish reporter.

But in a surprising column published in the Outlook section of the Washington Post on December 27th, Mary McGrory hit the nail on the head. McGrory is a long-time political columnist who usually writes mindless, emotional commentaries that the thinking person almost automatically rejects. But finally her heart stumbled onto the truth. She noted the lack of outcry on behalf of the Palestinians on Capitol Hill (though she did not mention the same for the press) and quoted an unnamed Congressman as saying "Of course, nobody spoke out. We are too intimidated. We are afraid of the Israeli lobby." McGrory went on to point out that "The Jews have never accepted the Arabs as human beings....The territories have been under military rule [since 1967]. The Arabs, some of them living on family land owned for generations, can vote only in municipal elections. They have no self-government. Palestinian youths did not need the PLO to point out that they were living under apartheid." Naturally, McGrory's piece was "balanced" (as if the truth needs to be balanced by a lie) by a piece on the same page which said that "Israel is not South Africa. The Boer elite of South Africa may not see any moral problem in supressing the black population, but Israeli society has a much stronger egalitarian strand." The implication being that since the Jews know that what they are doing is evil, they are a better people even though they go ahead and do it anyway - very Talmudic. It should be noted that a poll in Israel found that 69% of these good-hearted Jews wanted to see an even fiercer crackdown than the brutal one ordered by Rabin.

JEWISH APARTHEID

In fact, there are no differences of substance between Jewish and Afrikaner Apartheid. Arabs are treated as second-class citizens in Israel and they do all the menial jobs. Despite the fact that nearly one quarter of Israel's population (excluding the occupied territories of the West Bank and Gaza) is Arab, there are no Palestinian generals in the Israeli Army, there are no Palestinian ministers or bureaucrats in important posts, there are no Palestinian Supreme Court judges, and there is only token Palestinian representation in the Knesset (Parliament). In sum the Palestinians are discriminated against so thoroughly in the Jewish state of Israel that they occupy the lowest wrungs in the society and have virtually no influence on events.

Citizenship in the state of Israel is reserved for Jews, and all the Jews the world over are automatically citizens of Israel. This is not a religious definition of citizenship, but a racial one as the Jews consider themselves a race and do not care whether a Jew practices Judaism or not. In fact, many of the founding Zionists were atheist Jews.

JEWISH HYPOCRISY

Jews in America have always condemned racial and religious discrimination and have, through their leadership of the civil rights movement, forced the System to place Blacks (who amount to only 13% of the population) on the Supreme Court, in the top ranks of the military and bureaucratic services, and in virtually every job category, both public and private. They have demanded and have gotten a whole complex of anti-discrimination laws and quotas which forces the majority White population to mix with and hire minorites.

Is it not interesting that the Jews do not demand the same of Israel? Is it not interesting that the Jewish Lobby does not say to Israel "either you end this regime of racial and and religious discrimination or we will cut off the billions of dollars that we get for you from the Americans each year"? Why has the Jewish Agency which alone distributes $400 million a year in Israel (that it collects from the tax-deductible contributions of American Jews) demand that Jews in Israel live by the same rules of social justice that the Jews have imposed in America - or else?

The reason, of course, is that the Jews are monumental hypocrites who live the Big Lie. The are not concerned about social justice for other peoples, and particularly not for the Blacks whom they despise, rather they are committed only to the fate of Jewry. If racial and and religious discrimination benefits Jewry in Israel where Jews are in the majority then they are all for it. If racial and religious discrimination works to the disadvantage of Jewry in America where Jews are a minority then they are against it. Only the Jews could live such a lie. Whites would be forced by their internal character to resolve this contradiction one way or another, but two thousand years of living two-faced allow the Jews to act as if nothing is wrong - and as long as they control the media, the White masses will not focus on their hypocrisy.

U.S. REACTION

The U.S. government reacted in wishy-washy fashion as it always does when confronted with Israeli outrages. It criticized Israel not for the fact of the oppression (as it does with South Africa), but for the way the oppression is being carried out. Torture behind closed prison gates is one thing, but shooting unarmed teenagers on the world's TV screens is quite another. The U.N. Security Council issued a resolution condemning Israel's policies in the occupied territories and predictably the U.S. abstained from the vote. The White House said that both the Israelis and the Palestinians were equally to blame in the violence. Can you imagine Reagan blaming the Blacks for the violence in South Africa? The Jewish-controlled press would hand him his head if he did.

On December 24th, the State Department received a delegation of American Jews to discuss the problem. The Jews, led by lawyer Morris Abrahm, did not offer to put pressure on Israel to stop shooting unarmed civilians, but rather complained that the U.S. should not be criticizing Israel even mildly. Israel basically told the Reagan Administration to shove its criticism by stepping up its repressive measures with the shoot-to-kill order and the mass arrests. The Jews know who is boss in the America-Israel relationship even if the majority of Americans do not.

ARAB HOPE

On the Nightline TV show Israeli Defense Minister Rabin attempted to justify his brutal crackdown by saying that the rioting was caused by outside agitators, that is the Palestine Liberation Organization. How he can say that Palestinians are outsiders is beyond comprehension, but Koppel did not mock him for it so he and all other Israeli spokesman get away with it. In any case, it strains belief that the PLO orchestrated the demonstrations because the riots were so erratic and spontaneous in nature. Further, coordination between the action in Gaza and the protests in Israel and on the West Bank was so lacking that one can only assume that once again the PLO got caught with its pants down and had to play catch up.

What the riots prove is that the Palestinian youth have a courage that their elders never had. It may be a bravery born out of poverty and desperation, but it can be channeled into a positive commitment to revolutionary change if the PLO leadership acts with skill and resolution. The Israeli Army is overextended. It must defend the borders from very real conventional and guerrilla threats and police the Palestinians at the same time. It cannot be everywhere at once. The PLO should organize riots where the Israeli Army is not present and then disperse once the troops arrive to riot elsewhere. This could certainly be done in Gaza and the West Bank and perhaps even in Israel. The Palestinians in Israel proper should annouce a permanent general strike that will paralyze Israel. They will only do this if Saudi Arabia commits to financing the strike by smuggling money into the striking workers on a regular and sustained basis.

Further, it is time that the PLO arms the general Palestinian populace through a large scale smuggling operation. This will further extend Israeli military and police forces who will do all in their power to stop it. The Jews will move to full mobilization of their army, even though this will cost a fortune, because they can just get the Jewish Lobby to squeeze the American spigot open, and the U.S. taxpayer will foot the bill. But what they will not do is spend many lives to hold onto the West Bank and Gaza. They abandoned the occupation of Lebanon after the guerilla war there cost them only 500 Jewish lives. An armed and determined Palestinian youth could kill ten times as many Israelis in a year. The Jews will react savagely. They will burn, rape, torture, murder and pillage, as they have done in the past at Deir Yassin, Quibia, Sabra, Shatila, etc. But this is the cost of national freedom and human dignity. Now we will see if the Palestinians have the courage to break their chains and become free men. GG

Dear Mr. Gallo:

This family watched you on TV on Friday, Nov. 13th. Crossfire is on here three times weekdays at 6:30, 12:00, and 4:00 CST. I watched you all three times. What a surprise you being allowed on TV at all by the Jews and/or their lackeys. They did you the same way they did David Duke, that is try to make you look small and stupid by frequent interruption. You appeared to be angry but kept it under control....

Most sincerely,

Dear Gary,

You may recall that in the final issue of the SNF's Frontline I mentioned an album by John "Cougar" Mellencamp as noteworthy because one of the songs, "Scarecrow", dealt with the farm crisis in the Midwest. The lyrics were amazing because they sounded as though they could have been written by a member of the Posse Comitatus. Well I know that some people high up in the System were reading Frontline because I had previously gotten a letter from the Associated Press threatening me with a lawsuit if I reproduced any more of their copy or pictures. At any rate, since putting out the remarkable Scarecrow album, Mellencamp's output has taken an abrupt turn.

Up until recently you never saw Blacks in Mellencamp's music videos. But his two latest MTV videos are dominated by Blacks. One recent video which was proclaimed to be the number one video in the country for awhile had Mellencamp and his all-White band playing a rock blues song among a community of Mississippi Delta Negroes. These weren't your usual mulattoes that the Jews parade before our eyes on TV as Blacks - these were unadulterated "Bubble-lipped blue-gums". But here were Mellencamp and his band just having a funky old time with these

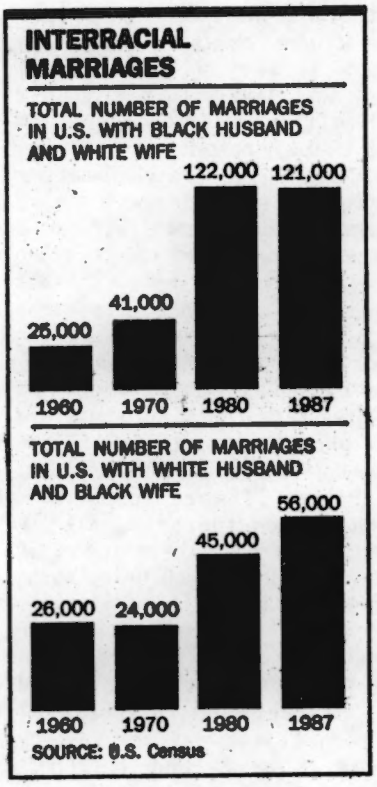
SHORT BURSTS

Resistance to Multiracialism

Despite more than thirty years of intense multiracial indoctrination in the schools, media and workplace, the System just cannot get Whites to marry Blacks in large numbers. Recently released statistics from the Census Bureau demonstrate a tremendous passive resistance to race-mixing. Even though mixed marriages have increased substantially since 1960, as one would expect, only 177,000 of the nearly 40 million American marriages mix Blacks and Whites. To the consternation of our liberal, conservative and Jewish "leaders", forced integration has, as yet, failed to create many of the new race of Hyphenated Man - the flat-nosed, kinky-haired, coffee-colored mullato. This is further evidence that the soul of our people is still fundamentally healthy.



Doctors' Income Up Again

According to the American Medical Association the average income of doctors increased 6.5% in 1986 to $119,500 per annum. The average American's income did not increase at all. But the need for the increase in doctors' income is certainly understandable as the falling dollar caused an increase in the price of Mercedes-Benz autos, and an increase in the cost of second homes in the Bahamas. After all, we would not want our finest citizens to go without.

More Legal Corruption

The Congress just passed a measure that will give $8 million dollars specifically to Ozar Hatorah, a Jewish organization that builds schools for Sephardic Jews. The money will be used to build schools in Paris of all places. The State Department opposed the subsidy saying that it opposes all specific and direct foreign subsidies. A State Department official, who naturally wished to remain anonymous to protect himself from the Jews, said that,"This is a program to subsidize French education, which we don't think in the current budget climate is needed. This isn't the proper use of U.S. taxpayers' money to build parochial schools in developed countries." The subsidy was pushed by none other than that beacon of pristine Senatorial ethics Sen. Daniel Inouye (D-Hawaii). We all remember Inouye, as chairman in the Iranscam hearings, chastising the likes of North and Secord for their supposedly unethical financial manipulations. Well, it seems that a director of Ozar Hatorah is New York real estate developer Zev Wolfson, who just coincidentally is a large contributor to Inouye's senatorial campaign. Surprise, surprise.

More Justice - American Style

And speaking of Jewish financial manipulation, stock speculator Ivan Boesky, who stole hundreds of millions of dollars from investors by trading on inside information, was sentenced to three years in prison on December 18th. He has been assigned to one of the "country club" prisons in California where there are no bars, no fences, no danger and plenty of recreational facilities. Boesky will be out in a year on probation to return to the approximately $300 million of the nearly $500 million that he stole. We can thank U.S. District Attorney Rudolph Giuliani and Jewish judge Morris Lasker for this latest slap in the face.

New Information on AIDS

According to Dr. Edmund Tramont of the Walter Reed Army Institute of Research, people infected with the AIDS virus often suffer a loss of mental function long before they develop any physical symptoms of the disease. "This could look like Alzheimer's disease in a young person," said Tramont. He suggested that "the smartest thing to do seems to exclude those who are infected from critical tasks." But, of course, the gay and civil rights lobbies will not allow their political puppets to do the smart thing, so in the future we can expect to see automobile, bus, train and airplane accidents caused by AIDS infected operators who have not developed any physical symptoms of the disease. As the disease spreads through the populace, the loss in productivity alone from the decrease in mental function will be tremendous. Previously, we recommended that there should be mandatory testing for AIDS and that all those who have the virus in their blood should be tatooed on the hand to so indicate. But in light of this latest revelation, it seems that we are coming closer to the point where quarantine may be the only answer.

India Epitomizes Multiracial Ethics

For those who wish to envision what America will become if it continues down the path of multiracialism we suggest that you study India. Nearly 2500 years ago, light-skinned Aryans from central Asia conquered India and established a racial caste system to prevent the mixing of their blood with that of the "dhasa", the dark-skinned Caucasians of north India who had built the original Indian civilization, and the primitive Negroids of south India who were called Dravidians and who came to form the bulk of the lowest caste called "the untouchables". Inevitably, over the centuries, peoples who live side by side mix with one another and the caste system failed to prevent Aryan blood from being lost in the dark sea such that now there are very few of pure blood of any kind.

Nevertheless, the Indian ruling class is still astonishingly light skinned. When the Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi stands next to Ronald Reagan and Margaret Thatcher for a photo, he appears no darker than Reagan and almost as light as Thatcher. And in fact, the lightness of one's skin in India is the most important of status symbols. In the personal ads the brown-skinned describe themselves as light-skinned to distinguish themselves from the more negroid.

But despite the status in being White, race-mixing is so extensive that the Indians have been largely stripped of their racial identity such that most regard themselves as individuals only and can commit to nothing higher. Some do identify with their religious sect, particularly the Sikhs who are mostly light-skinned Punjabis, and some identify with their ethnic origin though this connection is largely cultural (mainly a language distinction) rather than racial, and of course some identify with their family, as in the case of the Gandhi dynasty which has ruled India since its independence was granted by Britain in 1949. But because India is such a mixed bag, everyday life there is extraordinarily ruthless and must be considered the epitome of cutthroat individualism.

ULTIMATE DECAY

The corruption is so petty and ever present that one cannot even mail a letter without making certain that the postal employee at the window cancels the stamp. If you walk away without so doing, more than likely that postman will peel off your stamp to sell it on the black market and your letter will go in the trash. Cheating is considered an inalienable right in India. One university professor who turned a student in for cheating on an exam was attacked by other students who crushed the poor teacher's testicles. Brides are considered as little more than slaves, and bride burning is now all the rage in India. A mother-in-law who is not satisfied with the dowry often demands more after the marriage. If more is not forthcoming then the bride dies in a kerosene fire in the kitchen. There are hundreds of such bride burnings every year and despite the media's outrage all are found to be accidents rather than murders. A little greasing of the palms of the police no doubt helps in this regard. The economic system of the country is based on graft and all but the ruling class, who benefit from it the most, admit it.

THE RAJIV GANDHI SCANDAL

Against this background we can better understand the latest circus of corruption which is now playing in India. Signifcantly, the scandal has an American connection. It all began with allegations that Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi received kickbacks from defense contractors. Finance Minister, V.P. Singh hired a foreign consulting agency to conduct an investigation into the matter since no one in India was likely to give an honest report. Singh retained Michael J. Hershman and his Fairfax Group of Annandale, Virginia to handle the investigation. Gandhi, realizing that he had been outmanuevered by Singh, transferred the Minister to an innocuous post in the Defense Ministry, and he has since resigned. Gandhi also set up an investigating commission to investigate the hiring of Hershman. The commission naturally found that the hiring was done outside normal channels and was therefore illegal. Nevertheless, Hershman went on with his work.

Several Indian businessmen filed suit against Hershman in America to stop him. And according to court papers filed by Hershman in the suit, he was offered a $500,000 bribe by two businessmen who are friends of Gandhi to give the Prime Minister a clean bill of health. The bribe offer was channeled through American lawyer Philip Wolin and was made on behalf of Ali Siddiqui (who admits to meeting with Hershman twice) and Adil Shahryar who are business partners.

ONE CORRUPT FAVOR DESERVES ANOTHER

Shahryar is a close friend of Gandhi, and he was serving a 35-year sentence in an American prison, for firebombing a ship to collect the insurance on it, until Prime Minister Gandhi visted President Reagan in Washington in June of 1985. On the day Gandhi arrived, Reagan commuted Shahryar's sentence to time served. What better gift from one corrupt leader to another. Perhaps Shahryar thought it time to return the favor, or perhaps Gandhi suggested the bribe of Hershman, or perhaps Hershman is lying about the whole thing. Only time will tell, but it gives you glimpse into what life will be like in America in a few hundred years if we lose this great struggle to save our Race. Once a people is stripped of its racial and cultural identity by the communist and capitalist forces of internationalism and multiracialism it devolves into an ever more base and decadent individualism. India now occupies the lowest wrung in the Inferno - the ring called Absolute Self-Seeking - but other countries will soon share her seat closest to the Hellfire. It is our job to to see to it that America climb out of the burning pit, not further into it. GG hand-clapping darkees. But this video is nothing compared to his latest, "Cherry Bomb". During the entire video while Mellencamp is singing, a blonde girl is dancing with a full-blooded Negro. I mean the two are bumping and grinding! The cameras do a close-up on the Negro's hands squeezing and rubbing the girl's behind. It would be raw stuff without the multiracialism. But, honest to God, I have never seen anything so powerfully insulting as this "Cherry Bomb" video by Mellencamp. It is done in a way that is obviously intended to insult and humiliate the White male. The shot with the blonde and the Negro is no brief glimpse like we usually get. It goes on and on and on for the entire video.

The question I have, though, is why? And why Mellencamp, whose stuff had always appealed to small-town, White, mid-America? Did my holding Mellencamp up as an example of a positive, nationalistic rock and roller have anything to do with this radical recent change in his material? Is somebody putting the screws on Mellencamp and making him pay for the "Scarecrow" album? I don't know. It is all so strange, and one can only wonder. But one can say this: for some reason the System has been provoked into putting out the rawest, most disgusting example of race-mixing I have yet seen on the boob-tube. Every time MTV shows the "Cherry Bomb" video it will probably result in ten or twenty people nationwide reacting and ultimately finding their way into the ranks of the White Movement. So we must look at it as something that will provoke and radicalize Whites and thus help us.

If next I see Bon Jovi (the other rock and roller I held up as a positive sign in the Frontline article) singing a duet with Whitney Houston or some other Negress pop singer, then I'll know we have provoked the powers that be.

Dear Gary,

I offer you my heartiest congratulations for your performance on Crossfire.... We unanimously felt that you did an outstanding job under withering enemy fire.

The thing that stood out most to me was how you refused to let Braden or Buchanan interrupt you to distraction. In most cases you plowed on through or even cut them off. Clearly, you realized you were dealing with the enemy, not with polite conversation partners. They gave no quarter and neither did you....

RALEIGH WHITE UNITY DAY SPEECH

Below is the text of the speech given by Gary Gallo at the White Unity Day march and rally on January 16th, 1988 in Raleigh, North Carolina. A full report on the event will appear in next month's issue.

So here we are again. Each time the System knocks us down, it declares the White Movement dead. And each time we rise up again, stronger than before! This march is led by the National Democratic Front, and the NDF has finally given the White Nationalist Movement in America the key to its ultimate victory - and that key is a systematic political ideology. Democratic Nationalism is a complete philosophy of life. It is a system of ideas that will sweep before it the decadence that is called pluralism - which is just a fancy name for domination of the country by the rich special interests that buy puppets called politicians to do their bidding.

The System thinks it is powerful because it can get so many people to work for it. But all these people have to be paid to do it. Who is paying us to come out here and march in the cold? No one! We are here out of love for our people. We are here because we are determined to see our Race survive and prosper, both physically and spiritually. We will accept all the blows the System can deliver and will still come at them, month after month, year after year until victory is ours. It is passion, not money, that is real power.

It is our perseverance that frightens our enemies so much. They see that we cannot be made to stop fighting, and that knowledge will soon drive them to panic - and then we have them. They will break every rule to try to stop us, and then the people will turn against them.

The people will be drawn to the light and warmth of the purity of our Movement because we are not in this great struggle just to replace one set of myths with another set of myths more to our liking. No! We are fighting for the Truth! Only those who live by the Truth - only those who understand and abide by the laws of Nature can live long and well.

And Truth impels action! There is no way that a good White person who sees the Truth can can resist taking up the fight against the destroyers of our Race and Culture. I have seen even self-admitted cowards do all in their power to help the Movement once they have seen the light. No, they will not take the risks of the courageous, but they can and will act in their own way and will do all that their constitution allows. We must remember that even passive resistance alone on the part of the White Race in America will bring the System to a grinding halt because only the White portion of the population is productive. The rest are parasitic, or lazy, or inept.

It is for us, the courageous ones that are here today, to lead the way for the rest of our Race by our example. We must do all in our power to understand the Truth and to spread the message of our Movement. Each day we must ask ourselves: What I am willing to sacrifice for the salvation of our Race and Nation? What can I do to help?

The answer is to be active! To distribute leaflets, to sell newspapers, to attend marches, to talk always to your family, friends and neighbors about the Movement until you shame them into action, and finally to give as much of your hard earned money as you can spare to support the Cause. It is these things which will cause our Movement to triumph. Your energy will determine how soon we come to power in America.

When you talk to people about our Movement remember that we want more than just a White nation on the soil of America - we want a White nation that will stand forever. And in order to get it our new order must be based on honor and honesty; it must be founded on love and cooperation. In our White nation we will do away with exploitation of the weak by the strong. We will do away with abuse of the poor by the rich. Class warfare will come to an end. Only a united people can be great, and only a nation based on the principles of Social Justice can remain united.

We will create a New America in which no one lives in fear of poverty because every man willing to work will be provided a job at a decent wage. Our people will breathe clean air, and will drink pure water, and will live in harmony with Nature. In the New America we will live in safety, and our people will not worry about being mugged or robbed; they will not worry about having their women raped on the streets or having their children kidnapped from the school grounds; they will not worry about their kids becoming addicted to drugs because all of the drug dealers, all of the rapists, all of the child molesters, all of the gangsters and all of the habitual criminals will be discussing their future with St. Peter. All the destroyers will be executed or purged from our society. In the New America we will be a nation of builders and will create a level of civilization unparalled in the history of this world. This is what our Race can achieve. This is what our people want, and this is what the NDF will we give them!

On November 5, 1987 the Washington Times did a two page story on the leader of the National Democratic Front, Gary Gallo. As a result of that article Gallo was invited to appear on the Cable Network News show Crossfire on November 13th where he took on the liberal Tom Braden, the conservative Pat Buchanan, and the Jew Marc Pearl of Americans for Democratic Action.
